offset frame

Designed by nendo.

offset frame chair is a casual stacking chair that has a variety of purposes ranging from placing it in meeting areas or open spaces of an office.

CASUAL STACKING

Described as a "casual stacking chair" the offset frame chair consists of a shell made from a single piece of plastic resin, supported by a simple powder-coated metal frame.

A rich variation is available, with 8 different models with different frames ranging from arm chairs, caster chairs and single-legged chairs, with 6 colours variations for the shells and 3 colours variations for the frames, detachable fabric and leather covers .

VARIATIONS

The frame section slightly "protruding" from the shell allowed the chair to be pulled out effortlessly just by holding onto the back frame, and also enabled it to be trailed sideways, carried around and stacked with ease.

You can customize the offset frame chair based on your preferences.
It comes in 4 different frame types, 3 frames colours, 3 types of upholstery materials and optional castors wheels.

Although the composition of the chair is simple, comprised of the combination of a plastic resin shell with a unified back and seat section and a metal frame, it has a design feature detailing the frame section slightly "protruding" from the shell.
